

Take a break and exercise your mind! Ideas from LifeLong Learning

Friday, March 20, 2020

Why not take a break from the constant news about the corona virus by exploring some of these learning activities compiled by LifeLong Learning at PebbleCreek. We'll be sending more along periodically, but how's this for a start?

Visit a museum, virtually! Google Art's and Culture has virtual tours of the British Museum in London, the Van Gogh Museum in Amsterdam and many others! Browse the list and visit a museum you've wanted to visit, but haven't yet.

Watch an opera! New York's Metropolitan Opera is streaming videos of operas, with subtitles! Each day beginning at 4:30 the Met features a different opera, which will be available for 20 hours, but they are also available at on-demand on various sites.

Watch a TED Talk! We've been posting all the TED Talks we've watched over the years – plenty of food for thought you! A warning: you might get hooked on TED Talks!

Source: Emily Grotta, LifeLong Learning